

There's been a steady increase in the demand for stainless steel products in the past few years, and particularly in coastal environments one of the key issues to be addressed is the matter of maintenance, including the elimination of corrosion (i.e. tea staining) on all grades of stainless whether its use is to be in marine, architectural, internal, or external environments.

Bell Stainless is an ASSDA Accredited fabricator based at Kunda Park on Qld's Sunshine Coast. As well as being Australia's leading sheetmetal shop in the domestic market, we're the only Aussie company to have won international awards with SASSDA (South Africa Stainless Steel Development Association), and the only company in the world to have won multiple SASSDA awards.

We were introduced to Cyndan Chemicals in 1999 and found their cleaning and polishing products to be the best we'd seen. We continue to use them on new products and in our maintenance programs for private clients through to commercial developments, Council landmarks, etc. With the assistance of Cyndan's Janene Fuchs our staff have the knowledge to use the products appropriately and safely.

Cyndan Stainless Steel Cleaner has been formulated to effectively clean stainless using a combination of phosphoric acid and ammonium bifluoride, providing thorough and deep cleansing of not only grime, mineral salts, leaching, oxidation and other stains, but most importantly Tea Staining. Once the cleaner is neutralised the next step is to apply Cyndan Stainless Steel Sentry - a protective coating that keeps stainless looking great for months, even in harsh coastal environments. It also helps to prevent future soiling by the creation of a water repellent film which reduces corrosive buildup of salts, etc.

As a company we've found Cyndan's products and processes to be time effective, manageable and safe to use, while providing longevity to the appearance and structure of stainless steel. We have no hesitation in recommending Cyndan products, and are pleased to be associated with another Australian company who takes their work as seriously as we do.
